THE VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN

The Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) is a federal law that was implemented in 1994 in recognition of the severity of the crimes associated with domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking, as part of the Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act of 1994. VAWA was reauthorized in 2000, 2005, and 2013 to strengthen the law.

The Violence Against Women Act provides protection to women against crimes of sexual violence. The act obliges colleges and institutions to report and conduct educational programs under its Campus Sexual Violence Act (Campus SaVE Act), which amended the Clery Act.

The 2013 VAWA Reauthorization Act added a non-discrimination provision that prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex by organizations that receive federal funding. The Act allows an exception for "sex segregation or sex-specific programming" when it is deemed to be "necessary to the essential operations of a program".

- Make his or her uneasiness or disapproval directly and immediately known to the harasser:
- Make a written record of the date, time, and nature of the incident(s) and the names of any witnesses; and

An aggregation of a series of incidents can constitute sexual harassment even if one of the incidents considered on its own would not be harassing.

Examples of situations where confidentiality cannot be maintained include, but are not limited to, necessary disclosures during an investigation, circumstances where the Program, Sponsoring Organization or Clinical Educational Setting is required by law to disclose information (such as in response to legal process), or when an individual is in harm's way.

EDUCATION FOR BYSTANDER INTERVENTION:

An active bystander is someone who intervenes to interrupt behaviors in social situations that could lead to sexual violence. Effective intervention is a community responsibility of every person. Individuals are encouraged to speak out against attitudes that promote sexual violence and become more supportive of survivors. There are five stages to effective bystander intervention:

- 1) notice the problem,
- 2) understand that the problem demands action,
- 3) feel responsibility to act,
- 4) choose what form of assistance to provide, and
- 5) respond.

Tips for Safe Bystander Intervention:

Offer Support if you suspect that the person is being abused or has been sexually assaulted, stalked or sexually harassed

Speak out against all forms of sexual violence and harassment

Be an Advocate for preventing sexual violence and harassment

Model the behavior that values respect for others and promotes positive and pro-social behavior

1. Remember intervention doesn't have to be confrontational. Simply turning on the lights or turning off the music at a party can call attention to a situation.
2. "Everyone plays a role in intervention." If you don't speak up and challenge inappropriate behavior once you become aware, in a sense you are helping to perpetuate the problem.
3. Remain calm and speak up, say something like... "You need to just ease up" or; "she already said no to you once so why don't you just stop"!
4. Ask the perpetrator "what are you doing to this person"? Or "You should think about what you're doing to yourself and your future".
5. Ask others in the area for assistance with group intervention.
6. It's not OK to just turn and look the other way anymore; you should do, or say something to safely intervene.
7. Assist the person by walking them to their car or to a safe area until assistance arrives if authorities have been contacted.
8. Call 911.
9. Don't be afraid to tell a friend when they are acting inappropriately.
10. Be willing to challenge inappropriate conversation or jokes directed at dating/domestic violence.

Risk Reduction Education

Critical to ending violence and maintain a safe campus is recognizing and avoiding abusive behavior. Abuse can surface in many ways (emotional, verbal, psychological, sexual and physical). Some warning signs of abuse are:

- Frequent yelling directed at a partner
- Blaming partner for own faults
- Name-calling
- Consistently accusing partner of infidelity
- Kicking, holding, slapping and scratching
- Forcible sex (e.g., wanting sex after hitting)

Sexually implicit or explicit communications can include are not limited to the following forms:

- Written form, such as cartoons, posters, calendars, notes, letters, e-mail;
- Verbal form, such as comments, jokes, foul or obscene language of a sexual nature, gossiping or questions about another's sex life, or repeated unwanted requests for dates
- Physical gestures and other non-verbal behavior
- Unwelcome touching such as grabbing, fondling, kissing, massaging or brushing up against another's body

Retaliation

Regional West Medical Center School of Radiologic Technology prohibits retaliation against individuals who file a complaint or who participate in the complaint process.

Retaliation against an individual who in good faith complains of alleged discrimination or sexual harassment or provides information in an investigation about behavior that may violate this policy is against the law, will not be tolerated, and may be grounds for discipline. Retaliation in violation of this policy may result in discipline up to and including expulsion.

Any student bringing a discrimination or sexual harassment complaint or assisting in the investigation of such a complaint will not be adversely affected in terms and conditions of employment and/or academic standing, nor discriminated against, terminated, or expelled because of the complaint. Intentionally providing false information is also grounds for discipline.

"Retaliation" may include, but is not limited to, such conduct as:

- the denial of adequate personnel to perform duties;
- frequent replacement of members of the staff;
- frequent and undesirable changes in the location of an office;
- the refusal to assign meaningful work;
- unwarranted disciplinary action;
- unfair work performance evaluations;
- a reduction in pay;
- the denial of a promotion;
- a dismissal;
- a transfer;
- frequent changes in working hours or workdays;
- an unfair grade;
- an unfavorable reference letter.

If a student perceives retaliation for making a complaint or the student's participation in the investigation, the student should contact Regional West Medical Center Director of Human Resources. The situation will be promptly investigated.

False Reports

Because discrimination and sexual harassment frequently involve interactions between persons that are not witnessed by others, reports of discrimination or sexual harassment cannot always be substantiated by additional evidence. Lack of corroborating evidence or "proof" should not discourage individuals from reporting discrimination or sexual harassment under this policy.

However, individuals who make reports that are later found to have been intentionally false or made maliciously without regard for truth, may be subject to disciplinary action under the applicable Program disciplinary procedures. This provision does not apply to reports made in good faith, even if the facts alleged in the report cannot be substantiated by subsequent investigation.

Students will be asked to sign an acknowledgment form stating that they have received a copy of this policy and understand the complaint procedure at the beginning of the Program. (See attached form).

Employees of Regional West Medical Center are subject to Policy 201.0.06 regarding Sexual Harassment.
